About the Artist

Robin Mantor began to develop her love for photography eleven years ago. She spent 2 years studying photography at the Crealde School of Art, in Winter Park, where her photos were selected both years to show at the student art exhibit. Robin enjoys many types of photography, but urban, nature and black and white are her favorites. Most of her photos are taken around the central Florida area, however, her love for travel has given her many locations in both the United States and abroad, including France, to expand her photography portfolio. Robin is looking forward to sharing her love of photography with you and hopes you will enjoy seeing a glimpse of life through her camera lens.
